INTUITION, HEALING, AND YOSEMITE SAM
An Interview with Winter Robinson

(Summary)

"It was at TMI that I discovered my ability to be a medical intuitive ... It is as if I am coming home."

Winter Robinson, MEd, is an internationally recognized author, teacher, therapist, consultant, and medical intuitive, adept at facilitating the intuitive process, multisensory development, and exploring human consciousness.

TMI is delighted with the return of Winter, designer and trainer of Medical Intuition and Symbolic Diseases along with Larry Burk. Winter's history with the Institute goes way back: "When Bob Monroe reopened the new lab in the mid-eighties, I was asked to be in the second group of Explorers.

"Remote Viewing was big in those days and, because Joe McMoneagle was there, they were exploring how Hemi-Sync® might contribute to the process. ... They had been giving us "targets" for several weeks. There I was, feeling very important, in a lab conducting remote viewing experiments, very mindful of the Monroe tenet to "not edit" what shows up.

"... during one of my sessions, Rita [Rita Warren, Winter's monitor] read the target to me and a cartoon character showed up. As a child I never read comic books or watched cartoons. Now I was watching and listening to a character I called "Sam the Pirate" ...

"Sam proceeded to tell me about Rita's body. After the session ... Rita confirmed everything Sam told us because she had just come from the doctor. ... Later I learned that my cartoon character was "Yosemite Sam," and that was probably the original target, something in Yosemite National Park.

"About the pilot program," Winter says, "I have wanted to do this class almost from the time I met Yosemite Sam and have been thinking about what it could include since then.

"... this is the first time Dr. Burk and I will have taught together. That guarantees it will all be fresh and exciting."
